

Counselling Support Service

Hi, my name is Joy Hawitt and I work with WSBPS providing counselling therapy sessions, offering emotional support to those living with sight loss.

You are not alone

Sponsored by The Eye Fund

I provide a safe and confidential environment at Ashville Lodge and work with individuals to explore emotions and feelings around diagnosis, and provide ongoing support in coming to terms with changed life circumstances and how that will impact on family life, work life and the future.

Depending on availability, appointments are bookable on Tuesdays & Wednesdays each week.

The therapy that I provide is predominately Person-Centered Therapy, which is a client led, talking therapy, shaping the sessions to your individual needs.

As a member of the BACP (British Association of Counsellors & Psychotherapists) I commit to work within the guidelines set out by this governing body and their values and principles will be what underpins our work together.

I find it very fulfilling working within the centre, and achieving a strong, mutual, trusting relationship, providing empathic understanding with each person I work with.
